FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

Announcing the Release of yGuide Yoga Software Version 1.5.

Our new version of yGuide Yoga Software incorporates new features which make it quicker and easier than ever to customize a yoga practice. The new Practices menu options to add, change and delete practices enable wizard-like speed to maintain yoga practices. New practices are now created using a simple two or three step wizard -- two steps when practices are created empty for individual asana selection, three steps when a pre-designed sequence is selected from which to copy asanas.

The new search facility empowers the user to quickly find their desired pose for their new practice from the pose library, a custom practice or from our pre-designed sequences. They can search for poses by entering one or more terms to be matched by the information associated with the pose, including name, benefits or comments. The selection process is streamlined further by the ability to order the poses by various criteria and to view the poses by image. In addition, multiple poses can be selected in quick succession to populate the new practice.

Easy to use context menus provide quick access to helpful options via the right mouse button. Tooltips are incorporated into many windows to provide easy access to helpful information. A new user option allows you to control the length of time the tooltips display or suppress them completely.

This new version is available as a free download for existing customers with previous versions of the software.
